Re: DAIRYGOLD IPPC 404-02

Dear Sirs

I note that Dairygold made declared profits of €7.5m, reduced its loans by €81m, invested €29m in other investments, and has profits in associated property company Reox Holdings of €30m in 2006, or a total of some €148 million. This in addition to an appreciation in investments of €18m and an appreciation in their overall asset value of some €30m.

Its begrudging attitude to having to invest a paltry €1m in necessary works on their ETP stands as testimony to its foot dragging and begrudging approach to compliance with IPPC emission limits.

Dairygold should be obliged to invest all of their profits and more in treating their plant in order to comply now with current limits and conditions, and more stringent limits and conditions going forward.

Please acknowledge receipt.

Yours faithfully
