Concerning the Granting of an IPPC License

Dear Sir/Madam

I live 100 yards from Belview Egg Farm and recently I have been receiving a very bad odour emanating from Belview Egg Farm. I really enjoy being outdoors and I recently cannot go out as much as a result of the bad smell. My mother also lives with me and she also as received the bad odour and I am concerned for her health as she is an older woman.

The company wants to double in size, from 40,000 hens up to 80,000 hens. Surely, if the smell is already unbearable at 40,000 hens, then what is it going to be if it doubles in size. Does that mean that the smell will also double? As we are speaking the applicant is building a two story shed in a hope that he is going to get an IPPC license. I am writing to you in the hope that you will not grant the applicant an IPPC license until the bad odour is solved

Yours Sincerely,

Eddie Cunningham
