I write to you to express my concern and opposition at the recent proposal of Dublin Port to undertake a dredging project that will see 9.7 million tonnes of dredge waste into Dublin Bay.

I have been scuba diving in and around the proposed area for over 40 years and have seen first hand the effect the silt deposit has on our underwater environment. It coats everything from rock to sandy patches to soft corals and crustaceans. Commercially it has the potential to destroy our prawn beds along with lobster, crab, fish and marine fauna. Please think again.

Yours sincerely,
