I write to you to express my concern and opposition at the recent proposal of Dublin Port to undertake a dredging project that will see 9.7 million tonnes of dredge waste into Dublin Bay.

I have been living in the area for the last 5 years and use the area several times a week. Wither running, swimming, walking or relaxing with my friends.

As someone who works in tourism and a member of the Destination Dublin panel we have worked hard over the number of years to show Dublin has more to offer on its surrounds and Dollymount/Dublin Bay was pushed in a big way. We have international kite surfing championships, triathalons and its such a pity that you cant take into consideration what this great city has to offer from a marine tourism point of view.

Yours, Shane

Yours sincerely,

Shane Cahill
