I write to you to express my concern and opposition at the recent proposal of Dublin Port to undertake a dredging project that will see 9.7 million tonnes of dredge waste into Dublin Bay.

The dumping of this waste into our local habitat has the potential to create unforeseen and potentially damaging consequences, which is potentially major error. The dumping of this waste in this fashion does not enjoy the predictable consequences of disposal on land and may have a catastrophic impact on our marine flora and fauna.

I would urge the EPA on behalf of my children and family to prevent this dumping from taking place.

Yours sincerely,

David O'Connell
