I write to express my concern and opposition to the recent proposal of Dublin Port to undertake a dredging project that will dump 9.7 million tonnes of dredge waste into the UNESCO biosphere of Dublin Bay.

This is Ireland's only designated biosphere and depositing this enormous amount of dredge waste into Dublin Bay would have particular significance for our wildlife and recreational activities. It would also affect the hundreds of thousands of visitors to the area each year. It is crucial that this area is protected from potential harm caused by the dumping and consequent redistribution of this amount of dredge waste.

I am a local resident and Dublin Bay is part of my home and my community.

Yours sincerely,

Zandra Ball
