Ireland tries to project an image of being a green and clean island. Projects like this, which involve dumping almost 10 million tons of dredge material will have a serious negative effect on the fragile and nationally important Dublin Bay. Whilst I object to the dredging, the dumping of the dredge material will have an even greater damaging effect on both the fauna of the entire area and the visual aspect of the bay.

I write to you to express my concern and opposition at the recent proposal of Dublin Port to undertake a dredging project that will see 9.7 million tonnes of dredge waste into Dublin Bay.

Yours sincerely,

Justin Byrne
