I write to you to express my concern and opposition at the recent proposal of Dublin Port to undertake a dredging project that will see 9.7 million tonnes of dredge waste into Dublin Bay. I am aware dredging has taken place in the past but on a much smaller scale. The issue is where it is being dumped. Far too close to land. Tides and currents will reintroduce a lot of this toxic material back into Dublin Bay affecting wildlife and the people of Dublin alike. Once again Dublin Port wishes to flex its muscles with its lacky Dublin City Council. Once again money is more important than natural habitat and natural amenities. If Dublin Port had its way the Bay would be a toxic soup. I live locally and Dublin Bay is not just part of the local scenery, it is part of my home and my community. I having been swimming here all my life all year round and now because of greed I am told you cannot anymore? Please STOP this nonsense NOW.

Yours sincerely,

Conor McDonald
