I write to you to express my concern and opposition at the recent proposal of Dublin Port to undertake a dredging project that will see 9.7 million tonnes of dredge waste into Dublin Bay. I am a local kayaker, affected by nerve damage. I rely on ease of access and exit to the water and usually do so from Bull island right around the coast to Malahide. Often I'll have to take the time to rest before or after and I'll watch the wildlife and other sea goers. So you can understand my problem with your plans to unleash a huge unpredictable clusterfuck of dredge waste where I go to get what exercise and recreation I can. Irish sportsmen, household names, use the area for swimming and exercise, an attraction in itself. Don't lose that community feel and piss all over your own shoes.

Yours sincerely,

Richie Caulfield
