Dear Sir/Madam,

I am involved in commercial fishery in the Waterford Estuary and I have grave concerns regarding the continuation of the discharge of 1,000 tonnes of sodium hypochlorite from the power plant at Great Island.

In recent years I have seen a significant decline in the shellfish stock in the Waterford Estuary, and any increase in the amount of sodium hypochlorite discharged would have a catastrophic impact in the local commercial fishery and the local economy.

Regards,

Eoin Bates
