This would greatly affect me and others in my area as the smell is already hard to live with. I can smell it from my back garden and sometimes must go inside because it becomes too hard to handle. It is especially worse in the summertime. It genuinely makes me feel ill. I must close my windows in the house sometimes because the stench is too much. When I am walking, and a truck passes me by, or if I'm in my car with the windows closed, I must put my hand up to my mouth because it smells awful. It already affects my life so any extra smell would be much too hard to handle. It literally smells like death and really does upset me and others around me. Please take this into consideration.

Kind Regards

Jessica O Neill
