To Whom It May Concern

As a lifelong Ferrybank community member the proposed production increase of 60% is troubling.

The transport of heavy vehicles is already a danger to road users close to the factory site. An increase of this magnitude is a risk to the safety of the Ferrybank community.

On numerous occasions, I have been behind the trucks and the smell is unbearable and on two occasions there was visible fluids falling from the trucks directly onto the roads.

This significantly impacts the air quality for Ferrybank residents on a continuing basis.

The close to proximity of the factory to large residential and schools is far from ideal. Many people simply don't care as it's not happening in their area. I am raising a family here and intend to be in Ferrybank for my full life. This is a health and safety issue not just for me but my children who will have to endure this additional transport and disgusting smells when travelling to school for many years.

Ferrybank is a growing community and there is significant infrastructure developments happening in the area that are positive and of benefit. This unfortunately is not one of them. I disagree firmly with the proposal and the fact there was non-compliant odours from the factory in recent weeks is inexcusable. We should not have to accept it.
