Hello

As you know I have visited Analog last week & spoke with an ehs staff member who advised me she couldn't share any information & would ask her boss who then wasn't available, following a phone call she made she stated that it would have to be reviewed possibly legal ... this goes against the below & license.

Where in the licence issued by epa does it mention basic information on environmental aspects need legal review? I can't see any references to that in the issued licence.

In addition it's been over a week since the visit & have not had any contact from Analog.

This company has lots of unauthorised developments (no full planning permissions yet on some still go ahead with the development & even submitted commencement notices for one despite not having full planning permission)

The storm water impact is affected due to new footprints of units etc.

Regards
