Dear sir/madam,

My name is Bernie O'Dwyer. I am a resident of Wilkinstown in County Meath. I am writing to you regarding the company Organic Gold who have a composting facility close to where my children attend school. This facility has held a license for the past few years to perform organic composting, and currently has an application with the EPA requesting a large increase in processing volumes. This facility has been accepting sludge waste from Meath county council for the past two years without a license. Meath county has recently granted planning to the facility to greatly increase the size of the composting operation. The history of the Organic Gold facility is a litany of planning rule flouting and council collaboration in ignoring the planning laws of the land.

What advice does the EPA give to me to get satisfaction on this issue? How can I hold Meath County Council and Organic Gold accountable for their actions? I am not some frenzied lunatic who does not want a waste facility on my doorstep. I merely want to see the disposal of waste in Ireland emerge from the dark ages of gombeenism and for the companies who deal with waste to take their responsibilities seriously and to do the job in accordance with both Irish and EU regulations.

Best regards,

Bernie O'Dwyer
